Peñalolén Community, Santiago, Chile

The Kaspar Hauser Development Center is a non profit organization. Since 1994 is working in a very poor area of Santiago giving global assistance to people living in poverty and facing high social risk.

Our aim is to share the educational and cultural resources of the Waldorf Educational Philosophy in a preschool and in different workshops for children, teenagers and adults, preparing them in a creative skill that can be used as means for earning an income.

- 1.- Help parents and families with the education of their children according to the Waldorf teaching system.
- 2.- Train the adults who may require it, in a craft with which they can have the possibility to earn an income.
- 3.- Promote artistic abilities.
- 4.- Help the whole family to have access to human values, and assist them in acquiring culture and knowledge.

In 1994, a group of parents from a Waldorf school got together to work voluntarily in a very poor area of Peñalolén with high social risks developing different activities. Their aim was to share all the cultural resources to which these people had no access.

Once the contact had begun, a series of different needs raised the necessity to design a plan of action in order to help them. The municipality provided a meeting place where a preschool was formed with two groups of children, art workshops were given and mothers were taught hand embroidery. Since it began, all the work was financed by private donations and in 2001 and 2002 we were distinguished as a National Referent by the Ministry of Education Program for Infancy Improvement

Constructing the Center

In 2003 as recognition to our social work, the Peñalolén city Hall lent us the land in commodate where we have built our Center with contributions and donations. Here, all the activities of our program take place.

- We receive 30 children from 3 to 6 years old in a high social risk situation; the aim is to educate, form and recreate.
- Periodic health care control.

Craft instruction and training is given to adults and teenagers – promotion and sales of the products made in the workshops.

- The collected money helps to finance the activities at de Development Center.

- It is an occasion to share, to receive all of the neighbors concerns and generate bonds.

This institution is financed with the generosity of a group of people who have committed themselves to this social work.

Cooperating Partners: Friends, Schools and individuals who give a monthly or annual contribution in:

- Money for the Playschool teacher and helpers' wages.
- Food for the children.
- Books for the Library.
- Equipment for the workshops.
- General expenses: gas, water.

Groups of volunteers: workshop instructors, administration, operation, sale of workshop products, etc.

Schools: Students social action.

1.- Aim all our effort and resources towards the people who need it without taking account of their religious beliefs or political beliefs.

2.- Our beneficiaries may come at any time to get to know details or our program and the use of our resources.

Thanks

Thanks to all the people, school and institutions who have helped us built, and maintain The Kaspar Hauser Development Center, provoking a social development through education and training in places of limited resources.

Projection

Financing is needed to acquire the neighbor land in which a wide multi-purpose room is projected to be built in order to receive more people in training workshops ; As well as, developing an organic vegetable garden for kids so they can get the experience of working with land and also a wider place to play.
